

Paul Korner, MD, MBA is a board-certified obstetrician & gynecologist with private practice and 19 years of biopharmaceutical industry experience. He is an expert in Clinical Development and Medical Affairs, having served in senior leadership roles within small biotech, midsized and Big Pharma companies. Dr. Korner supported the development and approvals of several well-known women's health products such as YAZ[®], ANGELIQ[®], and CLIMARAPRO[®], and medically managed YASMIN[®], YAZ[®], MIRENA[®], ANGELIQ[®], CLIMARA[®], CLIMARAPRO[®], and MENOSTAR[®]. He has published numerous scientific papers across various therapeutic areas. Dr. Korner is founder and CEO of Korner BioPharma Advisors, LLC and is Vice President, Medical Strategy for Sarepta Therapeutics, a biopharmaceutical company focused on RNA targeted therapeutics for Duchenne muscular dystrophy. Prior to consulting and joining Sarepta, he was the Executive Vice President and Chief Medical Officer of Ardelyx, a clinical-stage biotech focused on the development of differentiated, minimally systemic medicines for patients with end-stage renal disease and gastroenterology disorders. Dr. Korner also served as President of Ferring International PharmaScience Center U.S., where he built and led Ferring Pharmaceutical's U.S. clinical development subsidiary responsible for gastroenterology, reproductive health, orthopedics and urology therapeutic areas and was a member of senior global R & D management. During his tenure at Ferring, Dr. Korner oversaw multiple phase I to 3 programs resulting in multiple NDA/sNDA/PMA approvals. Dr. Korner has also been VP Medical Affairs – Female Healthcare for Bayer Healthcare Pharmaceuticals, Senior Director, Clinical R&D - Women's Health and Bone for Wyeth Research, and Director, Medical Affairs – Women's Health & Gastroenterology for Solvay Pharmaceuticals. He received his MD from Loyola University, Stritch School of Medicine in Illinois. He also holds an MBA from the Michael J. Coles College of Business at Kennesaw State University in Georgia.